By submitting the slide(s)/image(s) identified above (whether one or more, the "Slides/Images") to the International Veterinary Pathology Slide Bank (Noah's Arkive) at The University of Georgia ("UGA"), I and/or my institution, if applicable, thereby transfer ownership of the Slides/Images to UGA, subject to acceptance of the Slides/Images by UGA. I understand that UGA is under no obligation to accept the Slides/Images into its Slide Bank. UGA agrees that, if it accepts the Slides/Images into its Slide Bank, it will list me and my institution, if applicable, as a contributor of the Slides/Images in connection with any database or catalog in which the Slides/Images are included by UGA. In consideration of the foregoing agreement by UGA and other valuable consideration, the receipt and adequacy of which is hereby acknowledged, UGA and its assigns shall have the nonexclusive perpetual right (but not obligation) throughout the world to copy, distribute and display, and to make derivative works of, the Slides/Images for any lawful purpose, and in any media now known or hereafter developed, including, without limitation, on film, videotape, videodisc, software, CD, DVD and any other tangible medium of expression.
